- criminal record information from an AccessNI check, where the law or the role requires it (for example, care work)

5. How we use your information and our legal reasons

- Finding you work and introducing you to clients. We do this because it is in our legitimate interests as a recruitment business and in your interests as a job seeker. It is also needed to take steps you have asked for before entering a contract. We will always ask you before we send your CV to a client.
- Supplying and paying temporary workers. This is needed to carry out our contracts with you and with our clients.
- Checking identity, right to work and suitability, and keeping records. The law requires this, including immigration law, tax law and the Conduct of Employment Agencies and Employment Businesses Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2005.
- Managing our relationship with clients, sending invoices and collecting payment. This is needed to carry out our contracts and for our legitimate interests in running our business.
- Telling you about new jobs or our services. We do this for our legitimate interests. You can ask us to stop at any time.
- Dealing with complaints and legal claims. We do this for our legitimate interests and where the law requires it.
